Hi, I am Nina Caspari. I am a London-based director and photographer. The mission of my work lies in evoking sensations through telling stories in a highly visual and staged way; dreamy, sensual and at times a little scary. I have a background as a costume designer, working on diversified feature and short film sets, where I gained a lot of set experience sharpening my skills in visually telling stories through characters.

Due to my Masters in Audiovisual Arts and Costume Design, I've got an original visual language which will be of great enrichment for your audiovisual product.
